

SUPPORT POTTS POINT BUSINESSES WITH THIS LOCAL STAYCATION PACKAGE

It's no secret that without tourism, some of Sydney's best suburbs and their businesses are suffering hard since the global pandemic began. While we're unable to travel very far around the country, this might just be the perfect time to escape to your own backyard and have a relaxing staycation. In an attempt to restore Potts Point and its vibrant and bustling vibes to a pre-COVID era, local family-owned hotel group, Sydney Lodges, has taken it upon itself to help draw people back into the inner-city village area. They've created the "stay local package", which aims to incentivise you to stay in the area and support local businesses.

The package reimburses guests up to $50 a day who stay in some of the area's historic lodging and who spend at local businesses like bars, cafes, and restaurants. It might sound too good to be true, but that's what they're doing. So, if you've been needing to escape but can't go very far out of Sydney, check out the stay local package online here for a full list of participating Potts Points venues.
